

WESTERN

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Do you want to foster communities of belonging and incorporate the gifts, perspectives, and presence of each person in your ministry?

As a ministry leader, you have been called to nurture and receive the gifts and contributions of everyone—especially those who often get left out or separated from the community.

Western Theological Seminary offers you:

- Skills in the art and practice of ministering to and alongside those with disabilities.
- Deep biblical and theological understanding of the theologies of disability and belonging.
- Increased language and Christian witness to share the gospel of Jesus Christ.
- Community of peers to challenge and support you.

Master of Arts in Disability and Ministry

The MA in Disability and Ministry offers specialized training for those who seek to work toward empowering all of God's people in ministry and witness.

You can earn this degree entirely online or in a hybrid program. All courses are transferable to a Master of Divinity degree.

Our courses always include the voices of people with disabilities and the teaching gifts of professors who are disabled.

The MA in Disability and Ministry is housed within the Center for Disability and Ministry at WTS.
